It is the responsibility of the incarcerated individual to ensure that he/she has space in their property box for said items, otherwise, the individual will have to discard the property by one of the three ways listed:

- Taking it upon themselves to mail it out via US postal mail. To do so, they must request from administration approval for a pre-paid box to be mailed to above address. The individual will have ONE day from box arrival to pack up what they would like to mail
- Filling out a property release and having someone pick up said property. They must state in property release that property is in their possession, specifically what they want to release, and who they want to release it to.
- Throwing away the property themselves.

NOTHING will be taken by officers to be placed in property room due to limited space
